Yale College Laboratory. Oct 5 1844

Dear Sir.

My friend Prof E. M. Horsford of Belman College will send you this. His object in visiting Europe is to pursue the Science of Chemistry which he is devoted. and any aid which it may be in your power to throw in his way in promoting this object will be a real service.

I found it out of my power to prepare the specimens which I intended to send you and to Prof Rose & Prof Wieg. It has thus far been impossible to procure for Prof Rose the requisite quantity of Cobaltite, although the quarry of Feldspar where it occurs is now unworked.

We hope that you were able to accomplish all your objects before sailing from Boston. Although we much regret that your time was so short.

The remembrance of your short visit at New Haven is ~~remembrance~~ entertained with great pleasure by all who had the happiness of making your acquaintance.

With kind regards to you Sir

Yours truly

Wm. B. Peck
P. S. Putnam Esq
